

Prophetic Dream and Word given on April 24th 2021 at 8:40pm GMT+2

The word is about the days we are living in... watch and realize where we at.

*In what way or form the dream and the word are connected somehow I don't know for sure.
Please ask the Holy Spirit for yourself to give you insight.*

Now the dream:

I am together with a group of people.

We are together in something like a spiritual meeting, maybe a prayer group or something like that.

I am extremely tired and was fighting a lot to open my eyes.

Every now and then I can manage to open my eyes.

Yet my consciousness is fully awake.

So I know and recognize and could see all the things that were going on, only my eyes keep on dropping but the body is extremely tired.

I literally need to shake myself to open the eyes and stay up – somehow to stay awake.

This went on for quiet a while, repeating several times.

I was asked to do something, maybe to play an instrument or something like that.

I try hard with my eyes closed to go where I should go and try to avoid that other people don't realize too much of how tired I really am.

But it ends up that I totter around and finally end up falling down somehow.

Well, actually I did not fall down completely but I went down into kind of a squat, or like a embryo position.

So I hold my knees.

The others around realize it and thinking, maybe something is wrong with this guy (with me).

Though I have my eyes closed and even not looking up but I can see everything around what's going on and how they surround me.

And they were thinking possibly how to comfort him (me).

It took them a while until they realized, it's not physical but something spiritual is going on.

I stay there in that position for a while with different emotional reactions yet I am not able to speak a single word.

So with a lot of shaking (of myself) I wake up [still in the dream]

While being in that squat/ embryo position the first words already came to me – even before I fully woke up [out of the dream].

That's basically now the end of dream... and start of the prophetic word

Now the Word, with the first sentence that I heard already in the dream which is:

As like in the days of Noach, they were sitting (together), eating and drinking...

and...as I am now awake [out of the dream] the words continue:

...but NO!

You are not in those days, you are already far beyond.

These days have passed.

You are (now much) closer to Sodom and Gomorrah than you realize.

(You are) in-midst of Sodom and Perversion, that I (YHWH) will no longer watch.

Wake up My people, arise and shine for your time has come.

I will lift you up on the hilltops and you will watch what I will do with the ones who sit in the valleys and eat (devour) their children.

Next year the word will not be the same anymore.

There will be a time of darkness as never before (before next year).

But My light will shine through, and you My righteous will stand in Glory.

No, it won't be long (the time of darkness).

But you will be under the shelter of my wings and I will protect you because I am the I Am.

Have I not told you fear not, for you will see My Salvation come quickly?
I have my hand on the wicked and only/just a little while (little longer) and they will be no more, for I will deal with them (says YHWH).
My words are pure, My words are true.
And before you will open your eyes you will see a blue sky like never before.
Men has spoiled the sky but I will wash their filth away within a twinkling of an eye.
Say no more, you can't stand this anymore.
You WILL stand and conquer because I am with you – whether you will feel it nor not.
I have set My hand upon your life (Soul) to keep you from all evil though you may think you are surrounded by death.
My blood is poured out an still the same and it changes not, nor will it ever dry out.
The ocean may dry out but My word will never run dry as it is alive as the living waters.

End of prophetic word.

Blessings and Yeshua be with you!
